

Sister Organizations

There are a number of organizations in our area which deal with various aspects of history. It would be nice if all of the organizations could work together to collect, preserve and disseminate information on the history of our area. Our organization, Virginia-North Carolina Piedmont Genealogical Society, deals primarily with the history of people and families as expressed in genealogy. The emphasis of the Danville Historical Society is on structures and their preservation. The Danville Museum of Fine Arts and History focuses on events in the history of our area. The Schoolfield Preservation Foundation deals with people, places and things connected with the now extinct Dan River Inc. Some information on our sister organizations follows:
